

Educational Public Performance Rights Agreement For Institutional Buyers

By purchasing our DVDs the buyer agrees to abide by the terms of this agreement:

Educational public performance rights are included for all films sold by On the Edge Productions at the Institutional Buyers price. Educational public performance rights means any noncommercial exhibition to a group for educational purposes.

Showings where an admission fee is charged are not permitted under this license agreement and would require a special license and a licensing fee.

Permitted screenings include face-to-face teaching in a setting where such teaching normally takes place. They include library carrels and the like, so that a professor can put a video "on reserve" in the library for student viewing after class. In addition, noncommercial screenings of a physical DVD are permitted at public places with or without the presence of instructors, even outside of regular, systematic instructional activity.

Interlibrary loans are permitted, provided the copy being loaned has been purchased from On the Edge Productions at the Institutional Buyers price and the institution, to which the loan is being made, understands and agrees to abide by the rights and restrictions outlined in this document.

Restrictions

Educational public performance rights do not include the right to transmit in whole or in part the content of any of our DVDs either by analog or digital means by broadcast, open-cable, direct-broadcast satellite, the internet, or any other "open to the general public" means, nor to any off-campus or distance-learning site, without prior written permission.

Closed-circuit dissemination within and an institution is allowed provided that it is used solely for face-to-face teaching purposes in places where face-to-face teaching normally occurs: e.g., classrooms or lecture halls. Closed-circuit use in places not normally used for face-to-face teaching -- such as dormitory rooms, cafeterias, or student lounges -- is not permitted unless a special license is obtained. Similarly, closed-circuit transmission to another campus or distance-learning site requires a separate license and license fee. Dissemination of DVDs on any kind of cable, commercial, or educational television system is not legal unless a special TV license is purchased from us.

All DVDs produced by On the Edge Productions are protected by international copyright law. These DVDs may not be copied in whole or in part, digitally stored, duplicated, altered, broadcast, electronically transmitted, edited, or excerpted for use in a PowerPoint or other electronic presentation. Nor can any of these DVD be shown where an admission fee is charged without prior written permission from On the Edge Productions. Violation of copyright law is a federal crime; it is also unethical.
